I am very saddened to hear of Jeff's passing. May Jeff rest in peace. It was a pleasure and an honour to work along side Jeff at IBM Canada C&TS in the 1980/1990s. Jeff and I continued to cross career paths even when he transitioned over to Bell Canada. Jeff was a great guy; honest, dependable, smart and genuinely a friendly person. He knew his stuff and eagerly shared his technical expertise with others. I can still hear his laugh! To Jeff's immediate and extended family, I offer this; "Death leaves a heartache no one can heal. Love leaves a memory no one can steal." from a gravestone in Ireland.

I'm numb and not sure where to start or what to say. Jeff and I go back to the very early 80's and our time spent at IBM and subsequently Bell. Over the years we shared many a laugh and one or the other always had a good story to share. As the years went by and we saw more and more colleagues depart through firings, layoffs, job changes, retirements, etc., just before I retired in 2015 I went to Jeff one day and said, "Well buddy, it's come down to just you and I still remaining. Which of us will be the last man standing?". I never expected that comment to come back to haunt me like this. Jeffer, we had a helluva ride Mate. Thanks for all the laughs and memories.

023 Gut punch . I am very saddened to hear of Jeff's passing. We had many fun times , many great memories. He was always cheerful and I consider myself very lucky to have him as a friend , at work and outside of work . He was a fun part of my life. I had gotten to know Jeffer from his first day at IBM . He was a true friend a great guy. Loved by all .. great sense of humour. Lots of memories notably from the IBM Toronto Computing Centre (C&TS) days back in the 1980/1990s and maybe late 70's?? Jeff and bunch of us went down to Detroit a few summers for the IBM slow pitch tournament . We really had a great time there . Did I mention Jeff was a great guy ?? Many admirable qualities , he was honest, knowledgeable and truly a wonderful person. I loved what he recommended golf should be called (sorry censored..lol) , makes me laugh to this day as it came out of him so naturally while we were playing at the IBM country club in an in house golf league match .. I can still picture him, his voice, his laugh. To Jeff's immediate and extended family, I offer my deepest sympathies. Jeffer , rest in peace good buddy... Turk

My condolences to the family. Jeff was an amazing colleague. He was always positive and full of energy. His voice would brighten the room. Years ago, I called Jeff asking him if he lived near the Barrie Costco. It had the only two remaining special edition Optimus Prime Transformer left. It was being cleared out. An hour later, he messages me saying it's sitting in his house. That was Jeff! A great friend and colleague. During a ski trip up north, I went to pick it up. It was nice seeing him, his home, and his dog. The neighborhood was calm and peaceful. That day brings back fond memories. Jeff, you're wonderful! Rest in peace.

I am so sorry to hear of the passing of Jeff! He was an extremely unique individual with a great sense of humor and amazing logic and an eye for detail. I had the pleasure of working with Jeff at IBM for a number of years. His love for his Z/28 wore off on me and after I purchased MY Z/28. We travelled down to Watkins Glenn with a few other friends and coworkers. He will be missed by a large number of friends and I'm sure his family. Rob Lawn
